NOT-FOR-PROFIT DIFFERENCE APPARENT AT FRIENDS VILLAGE AT WOODSTOWN

You're thinking about retirement community living so you begin researching the available options and one question comes up rather quickly: Should you choose a for-profit or not-for-profit retirement community?

Many seniors choose not-for-profit communities for the simple fact that they are mission driven organizations with the goal of providing the highest quality and most compassionate care to the residents they serve. Not-for-profit providers continually show their commitment to quality by offering the latest in training and developing new, more creative ways to meet the needs of their residents. Not-for-profit communities truly set the standard for quality.

ONGOING TRAINING ALLOWS STAFF TO KEEP UP-TO-DATE

With over 100 years of care in the Quaker tradition, Friends Village at Woodstown, a not-for-profit continuing care retirement community, is committed to providing quality care for its residents. Ongoing training allows staff to keep up-to-date with the latest techniques and initiatives in long-term care. Friends

Village at Woodstown is dedicated to offering the highest quality care.

THERAPEUTIC GARDEN HAS ACCESSIBLE PLANTING BEDS

Friends Village at Woodstown features a therapeutic garden designed by a renowned landscape architect, Jack Carman. The garden features an area for cultivating vegetables, raised planters to make gardening more accessible, a water fountain, walking paths, benches and flowering plants. Plants were selected for their sensory properties and include herbs and aromatic flowers. The therapeutic garden is just one example of Friends Village's commitment to quality care.

MULTIPLE LEVELS OF CARE FOSTER AGING IN PLACE

With assisted living, memory care and skilled nursing, residents age in place as they enjoy beautiful country surroundings. Friends Village at Woodstown offers independent living at its best, with the peace of mind knowing there are additional levels of care on campus if needed.

“Not-for-profit communities are mission driven organizations.”

Friends Village at Woodstown is a mission-driven organization providing comprehensive housing and dignified, flexible healthcare for older adults of moderate means.

DEDICATION TO QUAKER BELIEFS AND TRADITIONS

Founded in 1897 by the Salem Quarter of the Religious Society of Friends, Friends Village at Woodstown is guided in its philosophy and practices by the teachings, beliefs and traditions of our Quaker founders. Friends Village at Woodstown is a nonprofit, mission-driven organization providing comprehensive housing and dignified, flexible healthcare for older adults of moderate means. We are dedicated to serving their personal and community needs and encouraging their active participation in the broader society, while enabling them to be fully involved in decisions concerning their care.
